When I first met Jimmy and Kecia Costello, we met to discuss the specifics of my landscape project for my newly built home at 1004 Falcon Street in Metairie. I was truly impressed with their professionalism, knowledge and enthusiastic approach to secure the opportunity to submit a bid proposal for landscape, irrigation, palm trees and tropical's. Further in our conversation it was obvious that the Costello's and Palm Garden Depot had the experience necessary and were qualified to deliver my expectations for my landscape project.

We commissioned a well known Landscape Architect Rene' J. L. Fransen to design our beautifully detailed landscape plan and Palm Garden Depot was awarded the bid. The work began in October 2006 and completed in March 2007. Due to the extensive landscape design which included a rock formation and water fall, the landscaping was an essential part of the total features of our new home. The landscaping included ten Medjool palms ranging in heights from twenty four to thirty two feet tall. The Medjool palms were successfully installed with a crane without any complications.

Recently, Palm Garden Depot has completed a commercial landscape Project for me located at 201 Evans Road in Harahan, which included 125 palms and landscape.

My home has been featured in numerous publications and magazines including recently the local Times Picayune. It gives me great pleasure to recommend the Costello's and Palm Garden Depot. I have gotten to know them both personally and professionally and have great respect for their integrity.
